BOARD OF REGENTS

Held a Meeting at the University Yesterday

Students to be Charged One Dollar Per Year For Exclusive Use of Lockers.

Board of Regents.

The Board of Regents of the University of California met yesterday morning in the physics lecture room of the institution at Berkeley. A great deal of important routine business was transacted. Degrees were granted to the graduates in various colleges, the best scholarship medal was awarded to Harry Hebert Hirst of the engineering school, standing committees of the Board were appointed, Mayor Sutro's offer of six months' extension of time in which to begin work on the affiliated colleges building was considered, and a resolution that his offer be accepted and that he be thanked for his gift was laid over until next Tuesday, in order that Judges Slack and Wallace of the law committee may be present and advise as to its adoption.

In regard to Mayor Sutro's proffer of an extension of time, Regent Mayre said he thought the statements of facts preliminary to the resolutions of acceptance should give, in more detail, the steps which had been taken by the Board toward beginning actual construction of the college buildings.

In the matter of awarding the scholarship medal, the fact was recited that the winners of the two previous medals had not accepted them. This led Governor Budd to say that as long as he was President of the Board he would steadily vote against granting a diploma to student who refused to accept the medal awarded him by the Board.

Regent Hallidie said he thought the Board had no right to withhold a diploma from a student because of his refusal to accept a scholarship medal. The law prescribed the duty of the Board in the matter of granting a diploma. The acceptance or refusal of a medal was not covered in that law.

Regent Rodgers said he concurred in Regent Hallidie's view of the matter.

The question was then referred to the law committee.

It was decided that such students as desired might hereafter pay $1 a year for the exclusive use of a locker in the University gymnasium.

The following reappointments of professors and instructors were made:

For three years—Myer E. Jaffa, B. S., assistant professor of agriculture; Exum P. Lewis, Ph. D., assistant professor of physics; William J. Raymond, B. S., assistant professor of physics; Louis Du Pont Syle, A. M., assistant professor of English literature.

For one year—Instructors, T. F. Sanford, W. M. Hart, W. L. Jepson, J. C. Merriam and E. B. McGilvary; K. C. Babcock, Ph. D., instructor in history and political science; [illegible] instructor in chemistry, re-appointed assistants, J. Burtt Dony, F. Richards and H. B. Torrey; Francis Dunn, fellow in pedagogy; students assistants, A. L. Jordan, C. F. Reinhardt.

Asphaltum.

Our attention has been called by a subscriber to the GAZETTE, in relation to the article published on the 6th inst., in regard to asphalt, to the fact of a rich deposit of bitumen located in Santa Barbara county. He says "all deposits, Val de Travers, Trinidad, Neuschaebtel, Bermudez, as well as other Pacific Coast deposits are more or less impure and require refining; or they are so dry or low in bitumen that they require mixing with maltha or liquid asphalt to bring them up to a standard suitable for paving or other purposes, while in so doing they are liable to be of unequal quality and become unreliable for the purposes they are intended."

The following analysis of the Santa Barbara county asphalt will be of interest to those engaged in the use of it.

Total bitumen, soluble in chloroform	76.20%
Moisture	1.8 %
Mineral residue (infusorial earth)	22.0 %
Organic matter insoluble traces	"
	100 %
Free sulphur	None

The relation of Retinoid (Petrolene) to Retene (Asphaltene) in the pure extracted bitumen is as follows:

Retinoid (Petrolene)	71.15%
Retene (Asphaltene)	35.85%
	100 %

To lay a perfect pavement it is necessary not only to have the best material but the work must be performed in a skillful manner. An asphalt cement, made from a hard pure asphalt with a high percentage of petrolene as compared with asphaltene, is of a satisfactory and durable blending.

It is claimed that the bed of asphalt found in Santa Barbara county as spoken of above is the best now known in the world and the quantity as far as is known seems to be unlimited.

However with the very best of material and workmanship as far as laying a pavement is concerned it will never stand any length of time unless there is a proper foundation prepared for it. As far as we know there has never been anything of the kind done in California as yet.

IN LOVE'S COURT.

Abraham Lincoln Frick Is To Be Married.

Judge Frick to be Married.

Abraham Lincoln Frick, the boy Judge who sits on the Superior Bench of Alameda county, and is an avowed candidate for Congress, is to wed. Miss Bader is the young lady to whom he is betrothed, and May 21st is the day set for their wedding.

The engagement has been kept a profound secret, and its announcement will prove a great surprise. Part of the plan was to make the marriage a suprise, and those who have known the matter have been charged to preserve the utmost secrecy.

Miss Bader is a native of Calaveras county, and was reared in the State. Judge Frick was born and reared in Oakland, and has had phenomenal success as a lawyer. He was a deputy in the District Attorney's office, and was appointed to the Superior Bench to fill a vacancy.

He is now being boomed for Congress against Representative Hilborn.

SHOULD NOT PAY.

At a meeting of the Board of Regents held in San Francisco on Tuesday last, the question of charging students of the University $10 per year for their tuition came up again and it was vigorously opposed by Governor Budd, who claimed that it would injure the University and would cause the young people of the State to desert the State University and go to Stanford. He thought that the income of the University amounting to $225,000 per year was enough. The taxpayers of the State desired that the State University should be absolutely free. The $16,000 deficiency could be obtained from the next Legislature and should not be taken from the students.

Governor Budd is right there should be no charge for tuition, as it is now a four year's course at the State University is very expensive, as there are all sorts of catch penny schemes to wheedle dollars out of the students.

There are military uniforms, class dues, fees for membership to the Co-operative Association, gymnasium suits and appliances besides the numerous books that the students are compelled to purchase. All of these expenses added to board and lodging, laundry and clothing for the year makes a course at the University very expensive and as the taxpapers have to pay for the maintenance of the University, an additional tax of $10 per year upon such students as desire to take advantage of the University is unjust.

If there is not enough money to run the University at the present rate, have the rate raised. In the meantime it might be well to get an ax and chop off a slice of some of the salaries of the high-priced professors. The President, for instance, gets $7000 per year, when $5000 would be a good salary. Times are different now than they were a few years ago, and all classes of labor and professions are compelled to work for less, so why not some of the high-priced professors of the University.

POPULIST PLATFORM.

The State Convention of the People's Party at Sacramento has completed its labors and adjourned. The platform adopted is in some respects patterned after the Republican platform. It declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver as well as gold at a ratio of 16 to 1 as a full legal tender, and without reference to any other nation.

It favors protection to American labor, by the restriction of the immigration of foreign labor, and by a true American system of finance which will render justice to labor and industry, and restrain the evils of usury, it demands the creation of a non-partisan tariff tribunal of experts by Congress to the end that tariff agitation may be taken out of politics, and to the end that tariff schedules shall be so adjusted that the benefit derived therefrom shall result to labor and not to trusts, and it denounces the Democratic and Republican parties for refusing to properly restrict immigration of foreign labor, when having power to do so in Congress.

It opposes and denounces all bills to fund or extend the payment of the Pacific railroad debts, and it opposes any settlement by which these roads are to remain in the hands of any private person or corporation, unless the debts are paid at maturity, and unless so paid it demands that the government, by virtue of the terms of its mortgage, enter into and take possession of these roads and operate the same as national railroads, for the benefit of the people, and upon foreclosure if there is a deficiency.

It demands the enfranchisement of women upon the same terms now enjoyed by men.

It views with apprehension the encroachments of the Federal judiciary upon the liberties of the people, as evidenced by the decisions in the recent contempt and income tax cases, and are therefore in favor of an amendment to the National Constitution prohibiting those tribunals or any other courts from annulling any Congressional acts without the occurrence of the people by a referendum vote.

It condemns the dishonest acts of such assessors in this State, as habitually and corruptly under-estimates the value of the banks, corporations and wealthy classes of the commonwealth, and pledges the Peoples Party to elect assessors who will assess all alike and opposes the collection of a poll tax and pledges its members of the legislature to repeal the law.

It favors the support of free schools and opposes the paying of public moneys to any sectarian schools. It is in favor of good roads, and believes in money being spent to make all the roads of the State good.

It condemns the legislation of the government which permits a vast army of its citizens to hopelessly beg for employment, while public highways and public works are parcelled out to favorite contractors, and wants preference given to the unemployed citizens of the State.

It demands that the salaries of public officers be reduced, and that each head of a family be exempted from taxation to the extent of $500. It also promises to conduct the business of the State upon a tax of 50 cents on the $100.

Its promises are many and are profuse, so much so that there is but very little chance of them ever being carried out.

Platt, of New York, and Quay of Pennsylvania, are doing everything in their power to defeat McKinley for the nomination for President, but all their scheming will be of no avail. The people of the United States have not forgotten that Platt, was, in a great measure, responsible for the death of President Garfield, and they do not propose that he shall have any hand in politics hereafter. To be sure, he has got the unlimited use of Governor Morton's barrel to do his dirty work with, but the people want McKinley and protection, and their delegates to the St. Louis convention will give McKinley the nomination on first ballot. They will not stand any more foolishness. Had Blaine, who was the choice of the people, been nominated instead of Harrison, he would be been alive to-day, and would have been the President.

It is high time that President Cleveland was doing something toward recognizing Cuba. He has given it out that he is waiting until Fitzhugh Lee gets there and makes a report. In the meantime the Cubans are being butchered and American interests in the island are being destroyed. It will not be long, however, before we have a President who will not allow the United States to be slapped in the face by every little one-horse nation that takes a notion to do so.

President Cleveland has stated that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President as his health will not permit, and he fears that with the cares of the nation on his shoulders for another four years he would die in office. The people of the United States are perfectly willing that Mr. Cleveland should retire, and would not object to his resigning at once, as it would, at least, make the country much healthier.

The United States interviewed behalf two Portuguese sailors, the schooner Competitor namely, Charles Bernett and William Leavitt, that they may be tried by civil courts, and Spain has yielded.

"GRAFTERS" WHO MAKE THEIR LIVING AT DICE THROWING.

Many of Them Are Great Swells, Wear Fine Clothes, Live Like Rich Men and Want to Be Gentlemen—An Ex-Detective Explains Their Little Game.

Leaning against the bar in one of the fashionable cafes up town the other night was a man who until recently was one of the brightest detectives in the police department. He had covered himself with glory on more than one occasion under the administration of Superintendent Thomas F. Byrnes, but when the shake up in the department came and he was obliged to go he did so without the least feeling of regret.

He did not look like a detective as he stood idly puffing at his cigar. He appeared like a man of the world who had just left a theater or dinner party. Not until he was greeted by a Press reporter did he arouse from a reverie he seemed to be in.

"In every city on the face of the earth," said the ex-sleuth, "that has any pretensions to being cosmopolitan there is to be found a certain class of men who live by their wits, and in living by their wits they do it in a manner that does not place them within the pale of the law, although their methods are far from being honorable. They are a nasty, vicious class of men, beside whom a highway robber or a pettysneak thief is the embodiment of all that is good and decent. Right here in New York that peculiar class of men flourish as they do in no other city in the world, and they go on unhindered from one year's end to another. Most of them are imbued with a desire to become rich and be gentlemen. That may strike you as being peculiar, but it is nevertheless a fact. These men are known to the police as grafters, and they give a good deal more trouble to the authorities than ten times as many hardened criminals.

"See that well dressed, nice looking fellow who is sitting over there in an attitude of studied carelessness, eying the elderly man standing at the cigar lighter? That fellow is a grafter. He dresses like, looks like and talks and acts like a gentleman, and yet it seems to me not more than ten years ago that he was a $5 clerk in a real estate office. His people are very poor and never were able to provide him with any of the luxuries in which he indulges himself nowadays. Yet he can now go into a fashionable restaurant and order a splendid meal from a bill of fare that is printed in French. He is not well up in literature and avoids the subject very cleverly if it is introduced. Still he is a hard student, devotes himself to a few selected books for several hours a day and in other ways tries to improve his mind and his manners."

"But how does he get his money?"

"He shakes dice. He is one of the cleverest dice shakers in this country. In fact, I don't believe he has an equal. The plan he is going to follow now is this, provided he succeeds in making the acquaintance of the elderly man. They will enter upon a general conversation, in which he holds his own. They have several drinks. Drinking becomes monotonous, and they drift out in the street together. Does he tell the old man that he is a stranger in New York? Not at all. He says he has been here all his life. He had an engagement to meet some friends at the hotel, but they disappointed him. He comes to another fashionable cafe and asks the old man to have a drink. He drinks whisky, but the drinks are usually small. Perhaps if he gets too many he will lose one on the floor. As they go from one place to another the places will deteriorate, and finally, the old man having had a sufficient number of drinks to make him woozy, the last place will be one in which Mr. Grafter has a dice box planted."

"What do you mean by planted?"

"By that I mean that the barkeeper is a friend of the grafter and keeps behind the bar special dice and a special dice box to be used on special occasions. This is one of the special occasions. Perhaps I should explain to you that in order to manipulate a dice box, or rather the dice, the inside of the box must be perfectly smooth. That is because the grafter holds one or more of the dice in his fingers and places it in the box in such a way that it will slide out of the box right side up when the proper time comes.

"Some of the dice shakers have celluloid boxes planted, and this, with a square set of dice, makes the sliding process an easy matter. But celluloid is likely to excite suspicion, so the leather boxes are most commonly in use among dice shakers who are clever at their business. A man who is clever at his business can shake out four aces in poker dice as easily as he can eat his dinner. Not only that, but he defies detection in the doing of it. He would be caught by one of his own class, of course, but the ordinary man would have no reason for suspecting that everything was not right.

"The dice box having been produced, they shake for drinks, and finally it is proposed that they shake for money. Perhaps the old man will not want to, but if he doesn't and can't be persuaded to will and does, this grafter has been affable and courteous all the time and continues so. Before they part company, however, it is a pretty sure thing that the grafter has borrowed of the old fellow about what he had spent for drinks, promising of course to pay it back.

"The chances are about even that the old man will bet something, and if he does he loses it, of course, in which case he is jollied enough to make him take the thing good naturedly.

"The clever grafter is not a mean fellow. If the old fellow went broke and the amount of the loan asked was reasonable, the shark would give it to him."—New York Press.

Sleeping In Church.

"Shut the doors!" cried Father Andre one day to the Swiss on duty, when he observed the archbishop of Paris asleep during his discourse. "Shut the doors; the shepherd is asleep; the sheep will get out." "Some men preach," said Sydney Smith, "as if they thought sin was to be taken out of a man as Eve was taken out of Adam, by casting him into a profound slumber." So, at any rate, thought not South, who, preaching one day at Whitehall, observed King Charles II and several of his attendants asleep. Stooping down, he cried out to one of the delinquents, "My Lord, I am sorry to interrupt you, but if you snore so loud you will wake the king." His majesty thereupon awoke, and turning to his neighbor remarked, with his customary good nature: "This man must be made a bishop. Remind me of the next vacancy."

Latimer speaks of a woman who suffered from insomnia, and who, all sopporifics having failed, was taken to the Church of St. Thomas of Acres, when she fell at once into a refreshing slumber. Lapenius, chaplain of the Danish court (1687), noticed that a large part of the congregation fell asleep during the sermon, suddenly stopped, and pulling from his pocket a shuttlecock commenced to play with it. The strange device, we are assured, had the desired effect.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Time's Cure.

We were talking to a man who lately had a very great and soul smiting grief. He declared that he never would get over it, that he couldn't, that death had come to his household and shown him that life was not worth living, for directly his affections were centered on any special objects those objects were removed and the void left thereby never to be filled. He knew that others got over such griefs, but he would prove the exception. He couldn't get over it, and he believed it, but as we listened we recognized the fallacy of his sentiments, for have we not buried mother, father, baby, friend, all taken when most they were loved and needed, yet today the sun shines brightly for us, the sky seems blue and laughter comes spontaneously to our lips? We have not forgotten those loved one who have gone. We think of them with a sweet though misty recollection of their personal relationship to us. The poignant grief at their loss is gone; time has dulled it—a blessed provision of nature, for were it not so we never could go on working out our plan of life deadened by a weight of woe that only those who have lost dear ones, can know.—Philadelphia Times.

The Sun, the Moon and the Tides.

Most people suppose that the moon alone is responsible for the phenomenon of tides, but the attraction of the sun is also an important factor. Of course the distance of the sun from the earth is unthinkably greater than that of the moon, but its mass is so enormous that it has considerable tide producing influence. The force which the sun exerts is the same on both sides of the earth at the same time, the tide producing force of the great orb being about four-tenths that of the moon. At the time of both new and full moons the "wave spheroids produced by both the sun and the moon have their axes coincident"—that is to say, the two great orbs unite their energies on the fluids of our planet and as a result the tides are higher than the average for the remaining portions of the month. These are the "spring tides." The "neap tides" come in the time of the moon's first and third quarter, and are not as great as the average, because the moon and the sun are each working in opposition to the other.—St. Louis Republic.

Seventeenth Century Superstitions.

That it is a very unfortunate thing for a man to meete early in a morning an ill favored man or woman, a rough footed Hen, a shag-haird Dogge, or a blacke Cat. That it is a signe of death to some in that house, where Crickets have bin many yeeres, if on a sudden they forsake the Chimney Corner. That if a man dream of egs or fire, he shall heare of anger. That to dreame of the devil is good lucke. That to dreame of gold good lucke, but of silver ill. That if a man be born in the daytime, he shall be unfortunate. That if a child be born with a Caule on his head, he shall be very fortunate. That when the palme of the right hand itcheth, it is a shrewd sign he shall receive money. That it is a great signe of ill lucke, if Rats gnaw a mans clothes. That it is naught for any man to give a paire of Knives to his sweetheart, for feare it cuts away all love that is between them. That it is ill lucke to have the saltseller fall toward you.—Notes and Queries.

Particular Prisoners.

Prisoners, it has been said, think much of the rank of those who pass sentence of death upon them, and the sheep stealer of bygone days preferred that his doom should proceed from the lips of a chief justice. Lord Campbell mentions a case where a sergeant presided on the Oxford circuit in place of the judge taken suddenly ill, and a man was capitally convicted. Being asked, as usual, whether he had anything to say, he replied, "Yes, I wish to say that I have been tried before a journeyman judge."—Liverpool Mercury.

THE BIGGEST OF BUGS.

The Elephant Beetle Is the Elephant Insect of Little Venezuela.

Venezuela is a little republic, but she has one thing that is the biggest of its kind on earth. It is a bug—the largest insect in all the world. The creature is known as the "elephant beetle," and when full grown it weighs nearly half a pound. To be struck in the face by such a bug, flying at full speed, would make a man feel as if a mule had kicked him.

This beetle, like others of its kind, both small and large, is clad in a complete suit of armor. This armor is made of a material far more indestructible than steel—namely, chitine. Chitine cannot be destroyed except by certain mineral acids—in other words, only the artifices of chemistry avail against it. Thus the shells of beetles that died 10,000,000 years ago have been preserved perfectly in the rocks, so that we know today just what these insects of antiquity looked like.

In Europe giant beetles have a considerable market value, commanding prices in proportion to their size. In London there are regular auctions of insects, and a single butterfly has been known to fetch as much as $800. A specimen of the rare and very large Goliath beetle is worth $60. This is the largest beetle of the old world, and it first became known through missionaries in the Congo basin.

Though no other insect in existence compares in bulk with the beetle from Venezuela, there are other bugs that exceed it in dimensions. For example, there is the Atlas silk moth, which has a wing spread of nearly a foot. It spins a cocoon, the silk of which is better and stronger than that of the ordinary silkworm. But unfortunately it cannot be reeled. The department of agriculture tried for years to discover a way of reeling it, but without success. Moths of this species often alight on ships in the Indian ocean.

There is a butterfly of the Malay peninsula and Malayan archipelago which has a spread of ten inches. In India and tropical Africa are found giant forms of those remarkable insects known as "walking sticks," which look like twigs of trees. Some of them measure 18 inches in length. They are related to grasshoppers and katydids. In tropical America are found certain huge species of bugs that are closely related to the familiar electric light bugs of this country. Like the latter, which have been popularly known only since the introduction of the electric light, they fly at night, living during the day at the bottom of ponds.—St. Louis Star.

—Patti and Her Price.

Of course in this matter of money and music no one needs to be told at this time of day that Mme. Patti is far and away the best remunerated artiste in the world. Patti was the first prima donna who demanded in Paris a nightly salary of 10,000 francs. When it was conceded to her her rivals preferred the same claims, so that, to keep her supremacy in the operatic market she persistently raised her price to 15,000 francs, which sum she received for each of the three concerts she gave in one week at the Eden theater. And yet Patti began modestly enough. When she made her debut in London in 1862, she was engaged for five years at a salary of £150 a month for the first year, £200 for the second, £250 for the third, £300 for the fourth, £350 for the fifth year, the lady to sing twice a week.

Until her marriage to the Marquis de Caux, Patti never received from Covent Garden more than £120 per night. Considering that the diva gets £800 per concert in London, and that an American contract recently gave her a minimum salary of £1,200 per night, plus expenses and half of all the gross receipts over £2,400, times have undoubtedly changed. During the last 10 or 12 years Mme. Patti's annual average has been about £40,000. To the nonprofessional mind this may seem out of all proportion to the value given and received.—Chambers' Journal.

The Valleys of Madagascar.

No great faith is expressed by General Duchesne in the future of railways in Madagascar. "The road built by the French military engineers from Majunga to Andriba was," said the general in conversation with our Paris correspondent, "child's play compared with the difficulties of the country through which the French had to go at an almost running pace. I had taken with me officers of the engineers to survey the country for a military railway, but when they saw the difficulties they gave it up. It looks very easy on a map to go up the valleys, but Madagascar valleys are not like those of other countries. They shrink into gorges and are cut up by mountain ranges. The whole country is a maze, and yet the west road is comparatively easy when compared with the east one from Antananarivo to Tamatave. The latter defies description. I was taken down to Tamatave in a litter by native porters. I cannot make out how we came to our journey's end. Your porters take you through quagmires, tumble down sheer cliffs and push through tangled forests. They cling to the boughs of trees like monkeys and balance themselves on rocks. I am bound to agree with travelers' good opinion of the climate, once you are through the fever zone. I never felt better than on the plateau."—London News.

Anybody Fit For Anything.

In one of his letters to Motley, John Stuart Mill, that English friend of the United States, deplored "the belief of your public that anybody is fit for anything." This optimistic conceit was no doubt developed by the practice of the earlier Americans, who turned their hands to anything, and, than bounty of a virgin continent, generally with good results. But progress has given rise to specialization, and the American like the European has become a specialist. He is learning to do one thing well.

Already the "fatal belief" deprecated by Mill has disappeared from business where it means ruin and bankruptcy, and from manufacturing and transportation where it means arson and murder. But it still survives in our administration of public affairs, where the evil consequences, though greater, are not so strongly felt, because they are less personal, less tangible and more widely diffused. I hesitate to say that anything is or could be worse than our unreformed civil service; yet I suspect the baneful character of what Mill calls the "fatal belief" is most strikingly revealed in our administration of education.—Forum.

Tanning.

The most recent and expeditious process in tanning, according to The Revue Scientifique, consists in passing a current of hydrogen gas or a current of some gaseous compound of hydrogen containing a certain quantity of arsenic through the liquid in which the hides are immersed. The hydrogen is obtained either from the action of commercial sulphuric acid upon zinc or iron or from that of steam upon iron, the circulation being, in fact, that in this case the hydrogen obtained will contain a sufficient quantity of arsenic. The gas, collected under pressure in a gasometer, is introduced into the bottom of the tanning vat through a pipe provided with a series of apertures, and after bubbling up through the liquid it flows out through another pipe affixed to the cover of the vat. Vats of very large dimensions are employed, and the tanning proceeds very rapidly.

THEIR WORK IS DONE.

The Republican State Convention has met and adjourned, and its action is now before the people, and, by the majority, the business transacted at Sacramento will be acceptable. The endorsement of Wm. McKinley, of Ohio, for President, is more than satisfactory to the people of the State of California, and the platform which was adopted is one that any Republican can endorse with pleasure.

We think that every man, woman and child in the State should carefully, fully read this platform. Consequently we publish it below in its entirety.

The Republican party of the State of California, in convention assembled at Sacramento, on the 5th day of May 1896, hereby adopts the following platform:

Resolved, That this convention favors the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of California, whereby it is sought to extend the elective franchise to all citizens of the United States, both men and women.

That we indorse the course of Hon. George C. Perkins in the United States Senate in behalf of the people of the State of California and their varied interests.

We indorse the work of the National League and the efforts of the young men of our party to make it a potent factor in prosecuting a vigorous and successful campaign in this State.

We favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the making of silver as well as gold a legal tender in payment of all debts, both public and private.

Realizing that good roads are a necessary element in advancing the prosperity of any community, and recognizing the practically universal demand for the same, not only in our State but throughout the United States, the Republican party of California pledges itself to the enactment of legislation looking toward improved and scientifically constructed highways on the most economical basis.

We demand such National legislation on the subject of foreign immigration as will effectually keep out of the country all contract laborers, criminals, paupers, diseased persons and the classes whose presence and teachings are calculated to disturb social peace and order, or are inimical to the best interests of this country, and such changes in the naturalization laws and enforcement as will prevent unfit foreign born persons from becoming citizens of this republic.

Our prisons and asylums contain many people not citizens of the United States. We believe that every nation should care and provide for its own demented and criminal class, and that all future treaties and conventions with other nations should provide for such a reciprocal deportation of such classes as would, in time, make each nation care and provide for its own, and at its own expense of deportation.

We hartily recognize the right to establish schools through private enterprise, but we demand that but nonsectarian, free, public schools shall receive public aid.

We heartily indorse the proposition that the farmer of the nation, by whose labor the staple agricultural products of the country are brought to market, should receive a just measure of protection for himself, his labor and his products; inasmuch as the price of these products is regulated by the amount paid for them in the world's market, debtors lose the cost of transportation from the place of production to such centers, and as owing to the great development of staple agricultural products in many of the cheapest labor countries of the world the prices realized by our farmers have of late been unremunerative, it is our duty to endeavor to change this state of affairs, hence we approve of the plan that the Government of the United States should reduce the cost of transporting these staple agricultural products from American seaports to foreign seaports, to, the end that the prices of these products should be advanced; and for that purpose, inasmuch as an export can be protected in no other manner, we pronounce ourselves in favor of the use of a limited portion of the receipts of the United States customs for such purpose, and pledge our efforts to have this measure, engrafted upon the laws of the land, to the end that the American protective system shall benefit all classes of the people, and the farmer against the oppressive competition of the cheap-labor countries of the world, and by so doing assist in maintaining that steady demand for labor in manufacturing centers so essential to the welfare of our country.

The Republican party of California is pledged to such legislation as will thoroughly protect the dairy interests and the public from imposition in the sale of dairy products.

The mines of California, with their annual output of many millions of dollars, have been our financial bulwark in times of adversity, they maintain the national credit during the dark days of the rebellion, and they form the basis upon which the grandest of commonwealths, California, has been reared. The mining industry of our State should receive such aid and protection as will insure its permanency and prosperity, and for that purpose we favor such aid and protection as will relieve the miner from unnecessary burdens, enable him to obtain and develop his mining property, and will promote and encourage the business of all kinds of mining, including that known as hydraulic mining, whenever and wherever the same can be carried on without injury to the other interests in the State.

We believe a revision of the tariff laws upon the basis of the American protective system to be the foremost of National legislation, and have full confidence in the National Convention soon to assemble to deal more fully with this question. We condemn the policy of the Democratic party for the last four years, resulting, as it has, in destroying every barrier to American protection, and charge that policy with the responsibility of degrading labor and impoverishing every interest dear to the American people. We believe that we should live under the banner calculated to give us the most protection in weakness and in strength, which exalts life and promotes human happiness, and that such system rests upon the basis of American protective tariff as advocatvd by James G. Blaine and William McKinley.

We commend the course of our Representatives in Congress in opposing the proposed funding schemes of the Pacific railroad companies, and it is our opinion that those companies should be compelled to settle their indebtedness in some reasonable or business like way, or that the Government shall foreclose its liens upon and take possession of the properties.

Resolved, That the Republicans of California, while recognizing the earnest worth and fitness of each of the distinguished statesmen of their party whose names have been mentioned as aspirants for the Presidential nomination at St. Louis, and while pledging in advance the electoral vote of the Golden State to the Republican nominee who ever he may be hereby declare that the emphatic sentiment of California is in favor of the nomination of that wise and able statesman, that pure and unsullied patriot, that true and loyal American, that peerless champion of protection, William McKinley of Ohio, and the delegates from this State are hereby directed and instructed to work and vote for the success of said William McKinley at all times there is a reasonable prospect of his nomination.
